

Teacher to Teacher Conference

Empowering Teachers to Empower Students

Sponsored by the UNC Charlotte Cato College of Education

April 3, 2017

9AM– 4PM

UNC Charlotte Center City

Cost

- Any teacher who served as a cooperating teacher to a full-time, all-day/everyday student teacher in fall 2016 or spring 2017 may attend for FREE.
- All other P-12 educators: cost is $25 (includes registration fee and lunch); does NOT include the cost of a substitute*
- * Teachers work with school administrators to arrange a substitute. Student teachers in spring 2017 may substitute for their cooperating teachers if ready to do so.

Bobbie Cavnar, high school English teacher, and 2016 North Carolina Teacher of the Year, will be our keynote speaker!

Presentation Strands Include:

- Effective digital learning strategies
- Differentiating for a variety of populations
- Engaging your hard-to-reach students
- Maintaining a high level of time on task
- Becoming a cooperating teacher for UNC Charlotte
- Culturally responsive classrooms

P-12 Teacher-Presenters are encouraged!

This mini-conference is designed by teachers for teachers. Do you have an amazing idea to share with your colleagues? Become a conference presenter! Visit <http://t2t.uncc.edu> to submit your conference proposal.

To Register

Please Visit: <http://t2t.uncc.edu>

Teacher to Teacher Conference
By teachers, for teachers